- Innovation Video
 - Your Innovation Video is a pitch that focuses on explaining your innovation and its benefits.
 - In the video, you'll need to show how your innovation works using a model. You may use sketches, 3D models, storyboards, wireframes, physical prototypes, or any other visual artifact to show how it works.
 - Remember, your video should focus largely on your innovation, its capabilities and technology. It must be NO MORE than 5 minutes in length and smaller than 800 MB.
- Website
 - A website is a fantastic communication tool for spreading the word about your innovation to the world! A good website builds awareness of your work among customers, investors, media, employees and other members of the public while bolstering your credibility through presenting your brand.
 - Your website may include details about your team, your innovation, a link to your Innovation Video, company social media, and more! Don't forget--websites are public spaces, so don't share sensitive or confidential information.
 - More best practices for your website can be found in the Student Guide.
- Team Photo and Innovation Image
 - We want to meet you and see your innovation! Please share a high-quality team photo and one image to represent your innovation.
 - For your team photo, you are free to be creative as long as the image is high quality. Be sure to use good lighting.
 - For the innovation image, you'll submit an image of a model of your innovation. We recommend you use the same model that you referenced in your Innovation Video and your Website. Previous teams have submitted pictures of a physical prototype, UI/UX wireframes, sketches, and more.
 - If you are selected as Finalists, your photo and image will appear on the Conrad Challenge Global Finalists web page! By submitting, you give the Conrad Foundation and Space Center Houston permission to use these images on the web, in social media and for promotional purposes.
